8-0 - vs. Los Angeles, Apr. 8, 1966

Largest margin of shutout defeat:

11-0 - vs. Toronto, Nov. 25, 1972
7-0 - vs. Vancouver, Oct. 16, 1964

Most goals scored in one road game:

8 - vs. Washington, Jan. 2, 1976 (CAL 8, WSH 5)
9 - vs. Calgary, Oct. 17, 1961 (SF 9, CGY 6)

Largest opening day attendance:

Oakland:

12,089 - vs. Boston, Oct. 16, 1970 (BOS 5, CAL 1)

Note: This figure, like many others in researching the history of the Seals, is difficult to prove as being the most accurate. However, this figure seems to be the most accepted one as many newspaper articles reporting on the game (such as the Vancouver Sun, Oct. 17, 1970) report an attendance of 12,089. Also, according to the Seals' 1975-76 media guide, the Coliseum seating capacity was 12,021, and the largest crowd to attend a Seals game was 12,089.

Cleveland:

10,253 - vs. Washington, Oct. 15, 1977 (CLE 4, WSH 2)

Largest single game attendance:

Cleveland:

13,110 - vs. Philadelphia, Feb. 4, 1978 (CLE 2, PHI 2)

Oakland:

12,089 - vs. Boston, Oct. 16, 1970 (BOS 5, CAL 1)
- vs. Boston, Feb. 19, 1970 (BOS 5, CAL 0)
- vs. St. Louis, Mar. 17, 1972 (CAL 2, STL 2)

Note: The 12,021-seat Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum was sold out for a Seals home game on eleven different occasions. The largest attendance I was able to find in game summaries was 12,089, and this occurred on the three aforementioned dates.

San Francisco:

12,404 - vs. Seattle, May 6, 1963 (SF 4, SEA 3 - OT) - playoffs

Note: Attendance figures were not available for all San Francisco-California Seals WHL games, therefore the largest crowd to attend a regular season game at the Cow Palace is unknown. However, the largest crowd to ever attend a Seals playoff game was 12,404.

END-OF-SEASON HONOURS AND AWARDS

The following is a breakdown of awards that were given to the Seals for their accomplishments throughout the season, but there are admittedly, many holes and unintentional omissions in this section. I asked the Seals Booster Club if a complete list of award winners existed, but unfortunately all they had were programs for the 1975 and 1976 award dinners. As for the other seasons, it was difficult to identify all of the award winners, sponsors, and names of awards since the newspapers of the time did not always go into great detail, if at all, about such things. Plaques and various other awards were also often handed out for hat-tricks, shutouts, first NHL goals, and other accomplishments, but these were not always reported in newspapers. The newspapers of the time did not always mention who selected the various award winners at the end of the season, but it can be assumed that if a winner was selected by the Booster Club, it remained that way every other year. Various other awards given to Seals players, including all-star team appearances, WHL and NHL trophies, league championships, magazine awards, and other obscure honours that were bestowed upon the Seals.

WHL:

1961-62

WHL Second All-Star Team: Bob Solinger

Note: The Seals Booster Club was not created until September 1962. There is no evidence to suggest any awards were given to players at the end of the 1961-62 season.

1962-63

Lester Patrick Cup (WHL Champions)
WHL First All-Star Team Left Wing: Nick Mickoski
WHL Second All-Star Team Defense: Moe Mantha

Coleman E. Hall Trophy (Team Leading Scorer): Nick Mickoski
Player of the Year: Nick Mickoski
@ Golden Gate Trophy (Most Popular Player): Orland Kurtenbach
Coliseum Cup (Hockey Supremacy in California)

Note: Starting in 1962-63, an award named the Coliseum Cup was given to the winner of the San Francisco-Los Angeles season series. The earliest mention I found of this trophy was in 1963, therefore, San Francisco, on the basis of a 10-5-1 record versus Los Angeles, took the Cup for 1962-63. It was presented to Seals captain Ed Panagabko by Ab England of the Los Angeles Coliseum Commission.

1963-64

Lester Patrick Cup

Coleman E. Hall Trophy: Charlie Burns
@ Booster Club Trophy: Charlie Burns
@ Golden Gate Trophy: Len Haley

Note: The Booster Club Trophy was given to the Seals' Most Valuable Player. Los Angeles won the Coliseum Cup in 1963-64 with a 4-11-1 record versus San Francisco.

1964-65

WHL Second All-Star Team Right Wing: Wayne Connelly
WHL Rookie-of-the-Year: George Swarbrick

Mel Swig Award: Wayne Connelly
@ Golden Gate Trophy: Len Haley
@ Booster Club Trophy: Charlie Burns

@ Most Improved Player: Paul Jackson
Most Unrecognized Defenseman: Tom Thurlby
Coliseum Cup

Note: According to "McDonald's Ice Chips" in the March 27, 1965 edition of the San Mateo Times, the Coleman E. Hall Trophy (leading scorer) was renamed the Mel Swig Award, likely because Hall had moved on to the Vancouver Canucks that season. Tom Thurlby received a special award as the Seals' Most Unrecognized Defenseman. San Francisco won the Coliseum Cup for 1964-65 with a 10-7-1 record versus Los Angeles.

1965-66

WHL Second All-Star Team Right Wing: Wayne Connelly

Leading Scorer Award: Wayne Connelly
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Wayne Connelly
@ Most Popular Player: Larry McNabb
@ Most Improved Player: John Gravel
Most Outstanding Player: Gerry Odrowski (for most player-of-game awards during the regular season)
@ Special award for inspirational play: Joe Daley
Coliseum Cup

Note: It is unknown what the name of the leading scorer award became in 1966; the Bay Area newspapers of the era do not mention its name. There is also no mention of the Golden Gate Trophy, which became known as the Most Popular Player Award. The Larriburu Brothers Trophy, given to the Seals' Most Valuable Player, came with a $500 bonus. Goaltender Joe Daley had only played a handful of games near the end of the season, but received a special gift from the Booster Club for his inspirational play. San Francisco won the Coliseum Cup for 1965-66 with a 8-4-0 record versus Los Angeles.

1966-67

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Forbes Kennedy
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Jack Evans
@ Most Popular Player: Jack McCartan
@ Most Improved Player: Jack McCartan

Note: The leading scorer award would be sponsored by the Oakland Tribune and would include a $500 bonus. There is no evidence in Bay Area newspapers to prove the Coliseum Cup was ever awarded for 1966-67. No newspaper articles could be found to prove awards for best defenseman or unsung hero were given that season.

NHL:

1967-68

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award (Team Leading Scorer): Ted Hampson
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy (Most Valuable Player): Charlie Hodge
@ Most Improved Player Award: Tracy Pratt

1968-69

• Bill Masterton Memorial Trophy: Ted Hampson
The Hockey News Coach of the Year Award: Fred Glover
The Sporting News Rookie of the Year: Norm Ferguson

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Ted Hampson
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Ted Hampson
@ Most Improved Player Award: Mike Laughton

Note: Ted Hampson was runner-up in league voting for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, while Norm Ferguson was runner-up in voting for the Calder Memorial Trophy

1969-70

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Ted Hampson
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Ted Hampson

1970-71

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Dennis Hextall

1971-72

Sporting News West Division Rookie-of-the-Year Award: Gilles Meloche

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Gerry Pinder

Note: Between the first and second periods of the Seals' final home game (March 31), the Seals Booster Club handed out awards to Norm Ferguson, Gerry Pinder, Bobby Sheehan, and Joey Johnston for the hat-tricks they had scored during the season. Gilles Meloche was given an award to acknowledge his team-record four shutouts. Newspapers made no mention of any other awards given out that night. Meloche also finished tied for fourth in league voting for the Calder Memorial Trophy.

1972-73

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Walt McKechnie
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Gilles Meloche
@ Most Popular Player Award: Bobby Stewart
+ Unsung Hero Award: Craig Patrick
Appreciation Award: Fred Glover

Note: Hilliard Graves finished eighth in league voting for the Calder Memorial Trophy

1973-74

Oakland Tribune Scoring Award: Joey Johnston
+ Larriburu Brothers Trophy: Joey Johnston
+ Best Defenseman Award: Ted McAneeley
+ Unsung Hero Award: Morris Mott
@ Most Popular Player Award: Gilles Meloche

1974-75

High Scorer Award: Larry Patey and Stan Weir
+ Most Valuable Player Award: Jim Neilson
@ Most Popular Player Award: Rick Hampton
+ Unsung Hero Award: Al MacAdam
@ Wralstad Memorial Award (Sportsmanship): Larry Patey
+ Best Defenseman Award: Jim Neilson

Note: On March 29, 1975, the Seals Booster Club organized, for the first time, an awards dinner at the Edgewater Hyatt House in Oakland for the players, coaches and front office staff. Previously, awards had been handed out, for the most part, at the final home game of each season or in the first round of the playoffs. Joe Starkey was master of ceremonies, and Booster Club president George Black gave a welcome speech. In addition to awards handed out to commemorate important moments during the 1974-75 season, a "Special Award" was given to Brian Lavender, but the reason for this award is not mentioned in the 1975 Award Dinner program from March 29, 1975. The program also named the Oakland Tribune Scoring Award the High Scorer Award, likely due to the fact it was now sponsored by Pacific Southwest Airlines and Queen Mary Hyatt House. The Larriburu Brothers Trophy was renamed the Most Valuable Player Award, sponsored at the time by the Edgewater Hyatt House.

1975-76

High Scorer Award: Al MacAdam and Wayne Merrick
+ Most Valuable Player Award: Al MacAdam

+ Best Defenseman Award: Bob Stewart
 @ Most Popular Player Award: Dennis Maruk
 + Unsung Hero Award: Bob Girard
 @ Wralstad Memorial Award: Al MacAdam and Wayne Merrick
 * Three-Star Award: Dennis Maruk
 + Willmott Memorial Award ("for inspirational contribution to hockey"): Jack Evans
 Fickle Finger of Fate Award: Wayne Merrick
 Good Will Ambassador: Krazy George Henderson

Note: The second annual awards dinner took place March 27, 1976 at the Edgewater Hyatt House. Joe Starkey was master of ceremonies once again and George Black gave the welcome speech. The Top Sportsmen Award was found in a newspaper, but it may be the same as the Wralstad Memorial Award as the same winners were announced for each. The reason for the Fickle Finger of Fate Award is unknown, but can be presumed as being a special award given to Wayne Merrick for turning in one of the best seasons ever by a Seal after arriving in Oakland via trade with St. Louis. Dennis Maruk finished third in league voting for the Calder Memorial Trophy.

1976-77

Barons Player of the Year Award: Dennis Maruk

Note: Newspapers consulted made no mention of other awards. Gilles Meloche finished tied for 8th in NHL all-star goaltender voting, while Bob Stewart finished tied for 12th in voting for defensemen.

1977-78

Award winners unknown

SAN FRANCISCO SEALS – WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE (WHL) ALL-STAR GAME NOTES

5th Annual

January 8, 1962 @ Portland, Oregon | Arena: Veterans Memorial Coliseum

Attendance: 4,126 | North 7, South 3

Seals Representatives: Jim Hay (D) and Carl "Buddy" Boone (RW)

Note:

- Seals management requested that Hay and Boone be replaced in the game because they would have had to play seven games in seven days, in three cities, if they had participated in the all-star contest.

6th Annual

September 29, 1963 @ Vancouver, British Columbia | Arena: The Forum (a.k.a. Exhibition Forum, Vancouver Forum and PNE Forum)

Attendance: 5,080 | Toronto Maple Leafs (NHL) 3, WHL All-Stars 0

Seals Representatives: Bud Poile (Head Coach), Len Haley (RW), Nick Mickoski (LW) and Moe Mantha (D)

Notes:

- Leafs were defending NHL Stanley Cup Champions
- At their annual spring meeting in May of 1964, the WHL Board of Directors voted to discontinue the annual all-star game for the coming season. The main reason was low attendance. With all proceeds going to the player pension fund, a new process was developed. The Toronto Maple Leafs agreed to play six exhibition games on the West Coast in September and October with each of the clubs. The WHL teams contributed a portion of the gate and Toronto would match the contribution.
